Turks Await Command to Cross Strait; War Is Sure Should England Interfere

Meanwhile Allied Powers Endeavor to Bring About Peaceful Solution.

BRITISH HOLD THE KEY

But Force at Chanak Is Declared Small in Comparison With Nationalist Hordes; Hope for Adjustment in Conference With French Officials.

By Associated Press

LONDON, Sept 21—While the Allied Powers are feverishly endeavoring to arrange a peace conference to clean the slate between Turkey and Greece and prevent more fighting in the Near East rumbles of impending hostilities to come from Constantinople and the Dardanelles

A relatively small force of British troops is holding Chanak the key position on the southern shore of the straits, while the Turkish Nationalists, eager for further conquest after their defeat of the Greeks are concentrated outside the neutral zone at Ismid and Chanak impatiently waiting the order from Mustafa Kemal Pasha to advance The Nationalists, official dispatches say have available for use in such a drive 1,000 modern field guns, 5000 machine guns and enough ammunition for two years campaign which they captured from the Greeks

If their spokesman at Constantinople is to be believed the Turks are determined that the Allies shall not stand in the path of their desire to reoccupy Thrace and Associated Press dispatches quote the spokesman that Nationalist army will declare war on the British if they attempt to interfere with a movement across the straits A ray of hope is seen at the conference at Smyrna between Mustafa Kemal Pasha and General Pelle, French high commissioner

The decision reached by the Allied statesmen in Paris to call a peace conference was welcomed on all sides furnishing hope there will be no war

CONSTANTINOPLE Sept 21—The British are mobilizing every available warship man, fort automobile machine gun and rifle, within reach of the trouble zone They are preparing to deal a tremendous blow by land sea and air, if provoked by the Nationalist army, which according to the latest report is concentrating feverishly around Ismid and Chanak

Hahmed Bey the Turkish Nationalist representative here informed the Associated Press that it was certain the Turkish army would declare war on the British if Great Britain attempted to interfere with the movement of Turkish troops across the strait to Thrace

Hamed Bey expressed the hope that the British would see the fairness of granting the Nationalists already accorded to the Greeks namely freedom in the use of the straits without molestation He entertains and hopes for the success of the conference at Smyrna between Kemal Pasha and General Pelle the French high commissioner declaring that the Angora government's determination to occupy Thrace was already fixed and nothing would deter it except recognition of its claims

Nationalist troops are already massed at the neutral line at Ismid and Chanak and skirmishes are reported between advanced patrols and British outposts near Chanak

LONDON Sept 21- Grave warning of disaster to come unless Great Britain and France act in concert in the Near East is uttered by Viscount Grey of Fallodon, former secretary of foreign affairs In a letter to the Times he denounces the British government's attitude as announced last Saturday regarding the permanent freedom of the Dardanelles, as a terrible mistake "If our mistakes prove fatal to Franco-British cooperation he writes "the consequences may be more disastrous than thought can measure or words express

'If the government contemplates separate action in the Near East we may be heading for disaster

BODY OF GOLD MINER MISSING; 46 BROUGHT OUT

By Associated Press

JACKSON, Cal Sept 21—One body was missing today among those of the 47 gold miners who perished from gas nearly a mile down in the Argonaut shaft By a whim of fate it was the body of William Fessel the man who wrote on the clock with the smoke of his miners lamp a farewell message for the doomed 47 Fessel wrote Gas getting bad 3 o'clock

This was three hours after the miners were trapped by the fire above them and it was Fessel's body mine officials announce that had vanished

It is believed possible that Fessel had crept from the chamber of death to a higher level hoping to find some means of escape to his comrades The men from the mines bureau were certain however that they counted 47 bodies last Monday night when the discovery was made They considered it more likely that Fessel's body was buried by a cave in since the work of removal began

FEATURES OF COAL COMMISSION BILL ARE AGREED UPON

Conference Committee Gives Measure Form by Which It Will Become a Law.

CONFERS LARGE POWERS

On the Commission Even to the Extent of Authorizing Search and Seizure of Coal Company Records; Will Try to Get Non-Union Trade Secrets.

BY GEORGE H. CUSHING
Special Correspondent of The Courier

WASHINGTON Sept 21—The conference committee of the House and Senate yesterday reported on the Coal Commission bill The Senate bill had called for a completion of the House bill had called for a commission of nine the agreement report calls for a commission of seven

The House had appropriated $300-000 for the expenses the Senate had appropriated $100 000, the conference committee provides for $200 000

Thus in the two important items of the bill as they appeared in the eyes of the conference committee the committee split the difference

There had been a slight disposition, at first to direct the President as to who should be on the commission The Senate was of the opinion that both the miners and the operators should be represented The conference committee gave the President a free hand in this matter

The Senate bill as drawn by Mr Borah had suggested an inquiry into the advisability of nationalizing the coal mines The conferees did not know what is meant by nationalization and so they struck out that part of it and inserted The advisability of any legislation having to do with government ownership regulation or control in the coal industry

That is the commission is to report whether it has any recommendations to make on this score

The House provision for a fine to be imposed upon any member of the commission who should divulge any information (except to a court upon its order) obtained while acting as such commissioner was considered so by the conferees

The House had provided for a salary of $7 500 per year for the commissioners the Senate had $15 000 The conference committee agreed to $7 500 which figure is fixed also as the maximum compensation of any employe of the commission

Those things are a few more relative of the bill which having been reported out of the committee the same as having passed by both houses It will be in the hands of the President before the end of the week and will be a law at the beginning of next week

The other items are the ones which will be of far more interest The provision is that while there shall be but one commission it shall make separate reports for anthracite and bituminous There is no prohibition against the commission distributing its forces and devoting a part of the force to the anthracite and a part to the bituminous industry This will probably be done

The matters which however are causing considerable discussion go far deeper into fundamental things Some of the lawyers are calling attention to one provision in particular Without copying all the involved language of the bill it says that any member of any agent of the commission may at will enter the office of any firm and go over his books and make copies of any of his private papers which that agent thinks would be interesting or instructive to the commission The lawyers call particular attention to the fact that a commission on a fishing trip for information is thus endowed with a power which the Supreme Court has said from time to time does not reside in the government at any point They say that Congress thus attempts to give—perhaps to a volunteer—a power which the chief justice of the Supreme Court does not possess and which in fact is outside the power of the supreme Court the President and the Congress combined That is the Constitution inveighs strongly against unlawful search and seizure

That is merely a sample of the kind of thing that this law proposes to do Some of the lawyers are calling particular attention to another thing

CELEBRATION OF HALLOWE'EN UP TO FIREMEN TONIGHT

Will there be a Hallowe'en celebration in Connellsville this year?

The question will probably be answered by the New Haven Volunteer Fire Department at its meeting scheduled for tonight The matter had not previously been laid before the firemen but recently members of that organization have been approached by many persons in regard to the matter

The firemen have handled the Hallowe'en celebrations in the city for many years that it is taken for granted the organization will be back of the movement The company is unanimous on one matter—that the celebration should be held by someone The decision as to its own participation in the event will probably be arrived at tonight

The chief objection of the firemen to backing the celebration is the difficulty with which firecrackers can now be obtained in prize The firemen get nothing but a lot of hard work out of the celebration and feel that they should not be obliged to roll it funeral

The celebration is looked forward to by the young folks almost as much as Christmas and the firemen do not want to see them disappointed

KEPHART CASE GOES TO GRAND JURY SATURDAY

Former State Treasurer Held for Court by Alderman Under $8,000 Bail.

MORE CHARGES ENTERED

Effort of Counsel to Have Case Continued to January Term Is Blocked by Deputy Attorney General Ross Hull; Limitation Would Expire.

HARRISBURG Sept 21—Harmon M Kephart former state treasurer, after a preliminary hearing before an alderman here last night on the charges preferred gainst him by the State was held for trial at court

The case will be submitted to the Dauphin county grand jury Saturday. He is under $8 000 bail for the present term of criminal court in this county.

At the beginning of his hearing before Alderman William L Windsor, Jr on the charge of having kept inaccurate accounts from October 11, 1920 to the end of his term, Mr. Kephart was served with three additional warrants charging misdemeanor, preferred at the instance of the attorney general

John R Geyer city solicitor of Harrisburg and chief local counsel for Kephart fought every inch of the way during the hearing last night.

The windup of the hearing was one continuous battle After M E Connick the Pittsburg accountant, had testified Earl T Jewald, the deposit clerk was called and gave testimony similar to what was given at the audit hearings Fred Leach chief of the disbursement bureau of the auditor general then testified as to the accounts filed in the Kephart term

Mr Geyer moved for dismissal, claiming the State lost no money and that there was a record of all money paid in the depository book but this was refuted by Deputy Attorney General Ross Hull

When the alderman ordered Kephart to put up $8 000 bail covering all charges just before midnight standard time the hearing had run over four hours Mr Geyer at once demanded that the bail be for the January term of court but Deputy Attorney General Hull and District Attorney Phillips Moyer objected, saying it should be for September The district attorney said he wanted to put the case in Saturday and get an indictment so the statute of limitations should not run Geyer refused and the alderman said all he had left to do was to commit Kephart to prison. Geyer then said he would yield under duress and the bail was entered for September All witnesses were subpoenaed for Saturday

We have made out a case showing the accounts were not correctly or accurately kept said Mr Hull after the hearing To my mind every matter has been made out and I think there will be an indictment

Mr Moyer said he would present the case personally on Saturday

Kephart who had remained outside of the alderman's office most of the hearing came in when the bail was ordered and quickly signed his name, taking a cab for a night train for Pittsburg

Had the postponement desired by the counsel for the defense been effected all four charges would have been invalidated because the instances of alleged misdemeanor would by that time come without the statute of limitations

The home is of the bungalow type, and the intruders gained entrance through a bedroom window. Mr. Sullivan's gold watch was taken, a gold pencil, a revolver, over $100 in cash and a number of other things of value are missing. The robbery was carried out as though it was the work of some person who had a knowledge of where things were kept in the Sullivan home. Mrs. Sullivan had put a $20 bill under the paper lining in her dresser drawer and this was also missing. There was hardly a thing in the house that the robbers did not touch. Even the carpets were lifted.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

Judge not that ye be not judged.

This Biblical quotation meant nothing in the life of William P. Carleton, leading man for Katherine MacDonald in her latest picture, "Domestic Relations." Carleton went to the court house in Los Angeles to judge a judge that he might become a better judge. All of which, diagrammed for the law mind, means that when Carleton was engaged to play the part of a judge in "Domestic Relations" he spent several days in the courtroom of Judge J. W. Summerfield, so that he could see just how real judicial judging is done, and then went back to the studio better equipped to judge for the screen.

"Domestic Relations" will be seen as a First National attraction at the Soisson Theatre today.

Friday and Saturday, "Barnstormer."

THE PARAMOUNT.

It is doubtful if a more elaborate roof garden set was ever filmed in pictures than the one made by Goldwyn for Mabel Normand in "Head Over Heels," which is at the Paramount Theatre today. Great pillars covered with gold leaf, velvet carpets and graceful gilded chairs and tables make the place appear like a scene from fairyland. The entrance is a high Moorish arch, from which sways a scintillating curtain of gold mesh, and vari-colored jewels.

It is through this exquisite doorway that Miss Normand comes, full tilt, and bent on trouble. She transforms the scene from one of dreamy music and soft-toned conversation to a hysterical flutter of draperies and feminine shrieks, as she falls upon the girl she considers her rival in the affections of Hugh Thompson (who plays her fiance in the picture.

Friday and Saturday, "Blaze Away."

THE ORPHEUM.

When Lewis Sargent, a young actor, was called upon to shave for a scene in "Just Around the Corner," a Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture which is at the Orpheum today, it developed he had no beard. Frances Marion, the director, decided that the only way out of the difficulty was to pull out some of his eyebrows, so the young actor had to subm it to a pair of tweezers applied to his brows 15 or 20 times until an adequate supply of "whiskers" was had. "And to think," he said, "that thousands of women willingly have their eyebrows arched!

The story of "Just Around the Corner" was written by Fannie Hurst and the locale is the East Side of New York, the atmosphere in which Miss Hurst's story "Humoresque" was cast.

Friday and Saturday Lionel Barrymore in "Boomerang Bill."

THE ARCADE.

Do you believe in ghosts? Are you afraid of specks? Do you revel in the weird and uncanny? Strange things appear, disappear and re-appear in the most amazing manner imaginable, wonderful flowers and phantom princesses spring up from nowhere, people float about on thin air and young ladies vanish before your very eyes, but such are the wonderful performances given by Richards, "the wizard," and his excellent company, who open a week's engagement at the Arcade Theatre on Monday. Mr. Richards comes here with the entire original production exactly as presented during his record breaking tour of America's leading cities, where both press and public have acclaimed him the greatest magician of recent years.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my oldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. Wm. S. Hughes, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

WAS BORN "IN THE PURPLE"

Known Now That John Wesley Was of the Same Descent as the Duke of Wellington.

A movement to restore the tomb of John Wesley, which is in an advanced stage of decay, and the renovation of his chapel on the thoroughfare known as City road, London, is already under way in England, and an effort is being made to interest American Methodists.

The tomb, the chapel and Wesley's house occupy a site given to him in 1775 by the city of London, not far from the old cannon foundry on Finsbury square, the first home of Methodism in London. Wesley's death occurred in 1791 in the house granted him by the city.

Notwithstanding the popular belief that Wesley was of humble origin it has been established that he was related to one Guy of Welswe, who was created an earl by King Athelstane in the Tenth century. Wesley is descended, according to these findings, from the same ancestor as the duke of Wellington.

In 1735 John Wesley came to America and settled in Georgia, and started the "Second Rise of Methodism," the movement having been founded at Oxford from which Wesley was a graduate, ten years before.

Waitress' Name on Card.

The old "Is that our waitress?" problem has been solved by the management of a tea, sandwich and ice cream room in one of the midtown hotels popular with theatrical folk. The patron is never at a loss to know how to address his servitor, or servitress, for under the glass of each table is slipped a neatly lettered card giving the name of the waitress assigned to it. Thus:

"Your waitress' name is Mary," or "Your waitress' name is Lillian."

"Yes, it is a great improvement," mused one patron the other evening as he lingered over a beverage blasphemously listed as mint julep. "But remember in the old days in this same place they didn't have to have a card on the mirror saying: 'The bartender's name is Dave.'"—New York Sun.

Bands on His Cigars.

Mr. Blake hesitated at the entrance of the cigar store for a few minutes, looked up and down the street carefully and then cautiously went inside and shook hands with the proprietor.

"Well, Jim, old man, what'll it be today? Same old brand?"

"That's just it," whispered Blake. "That's why I came to see you today. You see, this is my birthday and the wife is on the way here to buy me a box of cigars. Would it be too much trouble for you to put some of those pretty cigar bands on my favorite brand?"—New York Mail.

Do You Burn Kerosene?

WHERE REAL BLAME FOR FAILURE OF BONUS BILL LIES.

To veto the so called soldier bonus bill was a test of courage which a President having less firm convictions than President Harding would doubtless have failed to meet Had he like many members of Congress favored the measure only as a means of winning popular approval, he would have attached his signature without delay Or, had he sought to avoid assuming direct responsibility he would have withheld both his signature and his veto and allowed the bill to become a law by the lapse of time provided by the procedure in such cases

Instead he pursued the course that will bring down upon him the criticism always directed at those who, from choice or circumstances, are on the unpopular side of a question of large public interest In taking that position it is but fair to President Harding to say that he was influenced by no motive other than to safeguard the government and the taxpayers from the consequences of unbalanced and imperfectly drafted legislation

In his veto message he made it plain that he did not disapprove the bill because he is not in accord with the avowed purpose of the measure but because he, as chief executive of the government, cannot subscribe to its provisions Regarding the amendment which provided for the appropriation of the interest to be received from loans to foreign governments to financing the bill as unsound and insufficient, the President held the amended bill to be open to the same objection he urged before which was that it did not provide adequate or proper means for financing it Another objection, which was shared by many friends of bonus legislation was that the adjusted service certificate plan of payment with its bank and government loan provisions "was little less than a certified inability of the government to pay and in fact a practice of sac ificial barter by the veterans

The action of the House in voting to pass the bill over the President's veto will not be regarded as correctly representing the sentiments of that body Every member will come before the people for re-election in November Realizing that there is a strong public sentiment favoring the granting of adjusted compensation to the veterans of the World War but refusing to recognize that the bill designed for that purpose was defective in its most important provisions the members voted with an eye to the effect on the voters at the forth-coming election, and not because of the sincerity of their efforts to bring about the enactment of an adjusted compensation law that will safely meet all the requirements

The real blame for the failure of the so-called bonus bill cannot therefore be laid at the President's door Had the members of Congress been more concerned about the soundness of the proposed legislation and less about its political aspects or influences and had they profited by the caution President Harding issued when the subject was first brought to his official attention a measure could have been formulated which would have been more acceptable in its provisions and which would have served a better purpose than as a bait to catch votes

The people at large have given very definite expression of their desire that the faith be kept with those young men who stood ready to sacrifice their all in a time of grave emergency and they will not be content until the pledge has been made good It therefore becomes the duty of Congress to eschew politics and to display that application and intelligence necessary to work out an adjusted compensation measure that will stand the tests by which President Harding measures the soundness value and sufficiency of legislation submitted to him for approval

GREETING ACQUAINTED.

The reception to be tendered the teachers of the city schools by the Civic League at the Carnegie Library tomorrow evening will afford an occasion for the parents of school children and their teachers coming together under circumstances which should be much to promote mutual interest between these two very important groups of persons having to do with the progress of our schools

The relations teachers sustain to school children have an importance few parents take the time to appraise at their full value. Most parents regard the duty to their children to have been discharged when they get them ready for school and see that they depart on time Getting acquainted with the teachers does not occur to the average parent as being helpful to the teacher, themselves and their children It is, however, as a means of creating a bond of sympathy between parent and teacher and teacher and parents, and stimulating to the children

That acquaintance of this kind may be formed is the object of the function tomorrow evening A very cordial invitation is extended to the parents of every child enrolled in the schools Their presence is urged not alone in order to assure the success of the reception, but for the still more important purpose of establishing a more intimate contact between parents and teachers upon whom rests the responsibility for rearing and training the future citizens of our community

In his service as a defender of his country as a loyal citizen of the city state and nation and a dependable man of business, the late Joseph A Mason never failed to measure up to the high standard he set for himself That standard was the one by which the value of good and useful citizens while living and their loss by death is estimated by those best able to appraise their worth By that estimate the passing of Mr Mason becomes an occasion of profound regret because it is realized he was one of the men whose modest and unassuming life stood for the worthwhile things in the community where he had spent so many years in quietly and faithfully doing his full part

With Democrats becoming so discouraged at the prospects of success in the coming campaign that their candidates for Congress are withdrawing from the race the public can better understand the degree of enthusiasm by which 'ovations' are extended to Candidate McSparran while touring the state in an effort to induce the voters to elect a governor who is pledged to the destruction of the public educational system of the state

The government, if it goes out for information, must seek it for some definite purpose which the Congress has immediately in mind and which is really a congressional purpose. The lawyers are calling attention to the fact that there is no real Congressional purpose involved at all. There is no bill before Congress. There is no purpose set up for which this information is desired. As a matter of fact, it is a purpose of the President only which they are trying to solve. That purpose is simply this.

The President found the union miners on strike against the non-union mines. He tried to stop the quarrel. In order to do so, he offered to appoint a commission to investigate. The purpose of the President is therefore to seek information upon which to end a purely personal quarrel between two groups of men. However, in putting out a net and in going after all available information, the Congress is going to try to go into the non-union fields and drag out their trade secrets. This is something which the government cannot do.

These points are brought out for this reason. Operators are now seeking export advice from the country's greatest lawyers as to what they ought to do in such an emergency. The attorneys are going to tell them to throw the agents of the commission out of their office and to back up against the Constitution of the United States, and that means that we are going to have some lively times in the country before the winter is over.

Incidentally, the labor situation in West Virginia is beginning to be mighty interesting. The miners in the upper Potomac district are refusing to work. The operators are evicting them from company houses. That will be the next scene of trouble.

High School Ready for Opening Game Saturday With Redstone Township

Team Coming Here Has Name of Being Tough Opponent.

HARD SCRIMMAGE IS HELD

A stiff practice this afternoon and a light workout tomorrow are the two events scheduled for the Connellsville High School football team previous to the first game which will open the gridiron season in Connellsville Saturday Redstone Township's High School outfit will be the attraction

The team held a hard scrimmage yesterday and seemed to have more snap and go than on Tuesday when the players were rather listless

The Cokers have a great opportunity before them this year but it lies entirely in the hands of the players themselves There is not a man on the field who can be called an individual star but collectively the team represents considerable strength The members have attained a growth sufficient to make the squad the equal of any in High School circles, but no games will be won unless every man gives his best for the sake of the school and forgets his own glory

No High School coach would want better material and Coach Wine only needs cooperation to turn out a winner The game Saturday will be nothing easy according to advance reports and next to nothing is known about Somerset which team is played the following week According to the dope' Redstone won most of its games last year and lost none of the team If such reports are true the locals cannot take things too easily

After the first two clashes the team buckles into Johnstown Washington and Greensburg in a row Those games will call for real stamina and concerted effort

The "tomatoes" as the Connellsville Tornadoes are fondly called by their adherents are about ready to open the independent grid season The team looks stronger by far this year than it did last The candidates have been reporting to Fayette Field regularly and the eleven is rapidly shaping up.

* * * * * *

The interest of the public in football is indicated by the large crowd of fans who flock to Fayette Field each evening to witness the practice

* * * *

The Pittsburg Pirates cut the lead of the New York Giants to four and one-half games by winning the first of a series of three clashes yesterday afternoon The score, was 1-1 Cooper was on the mound for the Bucs and added to his pitching by getting a homer Bigbee also produced a round tripper.

* * * *

The St. Louis Americans slipped a little further behind the New York Americans yesterday, losing to Washington 5-0 while the Yanks won from Detroit, 6-5

* * * *

Cooper's victory over the Giants yesterday made his 23rd win of the season and also the sixth straight over the World Champs The Giants have not defeated Cooper since July 6

* * * *

ADD SPORTS

Lowney, a lineman from last year's squad, has returned for duty He is the position at center and a merry chase will now develop between him and Yaw The latter is a hard worker who is giving the game his best efforts and he will be hard to beat Lowney is the tallest man on the squad Playing with the second team in scrimmage he makes his presence felt

* * * * *

Already talk of 'beating Scottdale is being heard Undoubtedly the clash is going to be the most interesting home game scheduled this season

* * * * *

Student Manager Bob' Schenck says Assistant Ted' Clarke is wearing out a portion of his trousers more rapidly than he is digging postholes at the football field

* * * * *

The Tornado team has about 50 candidates this year and if a strong representative squad is not placed on the field it will not be because of Coach Jones inability to select the best The successes of last year will be repeated again fans believe

* * * * *

Jean George and Swarner are two lads now out for a place They were not able to report during the early season

* * * * *

At a glance the High School has a better looking squad on the field right now than in many years

Y. M. C. A. League Closes Season

The Y M C A Baseball League at Dickerson Run has closed the season with Dawson in first place Vanderbilt second and Dickerson Run third So no good games were played and as the membership of the teams was confined to local men the games generally attracted large crowds

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gases Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Do you of you are suffering from indigestion you have already tried pepsin tincture of charcoal drugs and various digestive aids and not know that such things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief

But before giving up hope and declining you are advised to just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary citrate or carbonate either but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from any druggist in either powder or tablet form

Take a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after your next meal and see what a difference this makes It will instantly neutralize the acids and prevent harmful acids in the stomach which now cause your food to ferment and sour making gas which bloats you causes belching heartburn and headaches Many feel like different persons almost overnight

You will find Bisurated Magnesia a little different from the usual Magnesia tablets or powders you have taken in that it does not contain any chalk soda or charcoal and is not gritty nor does it stay in the stomach to form acids but is quickly dissolved by the digestive juices and thus helps to relieve the stomach of the acids and gases which cause the trouble

Bisurated Magnesia is the name to ask for and be sure you get it as this is the name of the pure original product which physicians have prescribed for many years
